1 finding that notice of the Trustee's Objections was timely given to the debtor, each claimant and
2 the Office of the U.S. Trustee, as evidenced by the Proof of Services filed with each objection
3 and hence the Court finds that notice of the Trustee's Objections was adequate, timely, and in 4 compliance with the Bankruptcy Code and Rules; the Court having reviewed the Trustee's 5 Motion, and having reviewed the objections received to the Trustee's Objections, and having 6 heard oral argument of the Trustee, but not the objecting party as he failed to appear for the 7 hearing, and having reviewed the files in the above-referenced case and deeming itself fully 8 informed in this matter, now, it is hereby

9
10 ORDERED, ADJUDGED, AND DECREED that the findings and conclusions of this 11 Court were made on the record and a copy of the transcript thereof is attached hereto as Exhibit 12 "1" pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7052 and Federal Rule of Civil 13 Procedure 52. Based on those findings and conclusions claim #18 filed by Tanager Fund, LP
14 and claim #19 filed by Ptarmigan Real Estate Fund, LLC are both DENIED.

1 DIGITALLY RECORDED IN SEATTLE, WASHINGTON

2 SEPTEMBER 7, 2012

3 --ooOoo--

4

5 (Colloquy was heard, but not transcribed.)

6 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Let me
7 walk through this, because I want to have a fairly 8 clear record of what I'm ruling on.

9 I think that for the same reasons that were 10 discussed at argument on the settlement, it is hard to 11 say exactly the -- certainly, I did not say that the 12 superior court did not have jurisdiction to issue the 13 orders it issued. It's more, what is the issue
14 preclusion effect of those orders between anybody
15 except husband and wife.

16 Here we have this further compounded problem
17 of, I have one of the parties that is, in general, 18 bound by those coming in now, sort of as best friend to 19 these two entities, asserting claims on their behalf
20 and then defending claims on their behalf, but not 21 purporting to be the legally responsible person for 22 those entities, but merely exercising the right of a 23 debtor to file a claim on behalf of a creditor that 24 hasn't otherwise filed a claim.

25 Whether that means he's estopped by the

1 superior court orders when he's acting in this capacity
2 now or not, I'm not going to rule on at this juncture.
3 Because I find the claims to be deficient as 4 establishing any sort of prima facie claim for either
5 party in general, and therefore I don't have to reach
6 the issue of whether there's already been issue
7 preclusion by the judgment of the superior court or not 8 and whether it's issue preclusion as to these two 9 entities when it's Mr. Grossman that's trying to defend 10 the claims that he drafted.

11 Basically, and overall, the problem is they 12 are so incomprehensible in their drafting that they 13 don't state a cause of action or cognizable claim on 14 behalf of those entities.

15 First let me recite what I believe is before 16 me on this claim. There may be many other pleadings in 17 the adversary proceeding or in the case in chief that 18 have some discussion of the Tanninger Fund and the 19 Ptarmigan Fund and the underlying real estate assets,
20 held or not held, by those entities.

21 But what's been submitted in connection with 22 the claims are Claim No. 18 of the Tanninger Fund LP -- 23 the original claim and as amended because the 24 attachments are different -- the objection to Claim No.
25 18, the declaration of Denise Moewes in support of the

1 objection, the response to the objection, proof of 2 claim No. 19 regarding the Ptarmigan Fund, the 3 objection to proof of claim, the declaration of Denice
4 Moewes in support of objection to Claim No. 19,
5 response to the objection to proof of claim, and the 6 declaration of Adam R. Grossman -- which he labeled 7 Volume 1 of X at docket No. 417.

8 The most detailed documents are actually 9 attached to your declaration, Ms. Moewes. But none of 10 those add up to stating a cause of action and, in fact,
11 belie a cause of action by either of these claimants.
12 Mr. Grossman's not come up with anything coherent that 13 this Court can even say I have a factual issue on. It
14 doesn't rise to the level of meeting his prima facie
15 evidence of validity of the claim under Bankruptcy Rule
16 3001.

17 The original proofs of claim didn't attach 18 sufficient documentation or explain the basis for the 19 claim sufficiently to be characterized as prima facie
20 evidence of the validity and amount of the claim as 21 required under 3001(f).

22 He had a further chance to amend that and 23 clear up what the basis for the claim was once the two 24 objections were filed. But rather than submit 25 sufficient evidence to negate any of the assertions in

1       the objection or otherwise, you know, present a prima
2       facie claim, it just creates -- it just presents more 3       incomprehensible recitation of issues about the SEC and 4       the nature of the funds and fiduciary duties regarding 5       the funds, but without in fact clarifying -- doing 6       anything to counter the trustee's assertion and the 7       superior court's finding that the community, and 8       therefore the bankruptcy estate, held the assets of 9       those funds, or to otherwise clarify that there's any 10      cognizable cause of action against Mr. Grossman and his 11      bankruptcy estate by those funds. And that's without 12      making any determination of what the preclusive effect 13      of the superior court order is.

14               And therefore, having failed to -- you know,
15      besides the fact that he's defaulted by not appearing 16      at hearing, he's not put forth, with any kind of 17      clarity, sufficient facts or law to support and 18      establish a prima facie claim for either claim 18 or 19      19. And I'll, therefore, deny both claims.

20               MS. MOEWES: And just mainly because I
21      continue to receive demands daily or weekly from 22      Mr. Grossman that I immediately cease and desist from 23      using fraudulent accounting -- which is the decree of 24      dissolution -- based on your ruling, I presume that 25      this Court is not making any -- or does not believe the

1 state court decree of dissolution is fraudulent at all
2 and in fact is still in effect, an effective order.

3 THE COURT: Nothing has been presented to me
4 to make me believe that there is -- that it is anything
5 other than a final binding judgment of the superior
6 court. And certainly, as I've stated many times in 7 many proceedings, including this one, I'm not the court
8 of appeals to the state court. If it's a validly
9 entered order, it has the effect it has. The only 10 discussion I've had before is it only binds parties to 11 that order.

12 So it's going to be a case-by-case analysis
13 of whether that final order affects and makes any -- 14 has any preclusive effect in any specific matter that 15 taker comes before me in this bankruptcy.

16 MS. MOEWES: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.
